The Committee has the authority to conduct or authorize any investigation appropriate to fulfilling its responsibilities, and it has direct access to the independent auditors as well as anyone in the organization. At the Company’s expense, the Committee has the ability to retain, obtain the advice and assistance of, oversee the performance of and determine the funding for special legal, accounting, or other independent consultants or experts it deems necessary in the performance of its duties as set forth in Section 301 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (“Sarbanes-Oxley”). Also, at the Company’s expense, the Committee has the ability to retain and determine the funding for the registered public accounting firm employed by the Company for the purpose of rendering or issuing an audit report, any other accounting firm engaged to perform services for the Company, any outside counsel and any other advisors to the Committee. The Committee may request that any officer or employee of the Company or the Company’s outside counsel or independent auditors attend a meeting of the Committee or meet with any members of, or consultants to, the Committee. The Company will provide appropriate funding, as determined by the Committee, for compensation for the independent auditor, any other accounting firm engaged to perform services to the Company, any outside counsel or other advisers that the Committee chooses to engage and for payment of ordinary administrative expenses of the Committee that are necessary or appropriate in carrying out its duties.

The Committee members must not have participated in the preparation of the financial statements of the Company or any current subsidiary of the Company at any time during the past three years. In addition, each Committee member shall be free from any relationship that, in the opinion of the Board, would interfere with the exercise of his or her independent judgment as a member of the Committee. No member of the Committee may serve simultaneously on the audit committee of more than two other public companies. The Committee shall be comprised of a minimum of three directors as determined by the Board. All members of the Committee shall be financially literate and have a basic understanding of finance and accounting and be able to read and understand fundamental financial statements. At least one member of the Committee shall have past employment experience in finance or accounting, requisite professional certification in accounting, or any other comparable experience or background which results in the individual’s financial sophistication to be an “audit committee financial expert”, as defined in Item 407(d)(5)(ii) of Regulation S-K, including being or having been a chief executive officer, chief financial officer or other senior officer with financial oversight responsibilities. All members of the Committee shall be, in the opinion of the Board, fully qualified to (i) review and understand the Company’s financial statements, (ii) monitor the performance of management, (iii) monitor the Company’s internal accounting operations, (iv) monitor the independent auditors, and (v) monitor the disclosures of the Company to the end that they fairly present the Company’s financial condition and results of operations. The Board shall designate a member of the Committee as the chairperson, and those members of the Committee who qualify as “audit committee financial experts”.

The Committee shall meet at least four times annually, or more frequently if necessary to fulfill its responsibilities. If circumstances warrant, an unscheduled meeting of the Committee can be called with or without the presence of the Company’s management. The Committee should meet privately in executive session at least annually with management, the director of the internal auditing department, the independent auditors, anyone else as desired by the Committee, and separately as a committee to discuss any matters that the Committee or each of these groups believe should be discussed. In addition, the Committee, or at least its Chair, should communicate with management and the independent auditors quarterly to review the Company’s financial statements and significant findings based upon the auditor’s limited review procedures. The Committee shall report regularly to the Board regarding its actions and make recommendations to the Board as appropriate.

In carrying out its responsibilities, the Committee believes its policies and procedures should remain flexible, in order to best react to changing conditions and to ensure to the directors and shareholders that the corporate accounting and reporting practices of the Company are in accordance with all requirements and are of the highest quality.
